NASHMAN OPPORTUNITIES

Register for the 2023 Veteran Day of Service?

The 2023 Veteran Day of Service (VDoS) will take place on Saturday, March 25th from 10AM-4PM. Registration is open between now and March 19th, 2023. Students, faculty, staff, alumni, and community members are welcome to register. Click here to register

VDoS brings together military-affiliated and civilian populations to serve those who have served, connect GW students, faculty and staff with the larger community, and elevate communities across the DC Metro region.

Student Leaders will be assigned to service projects to assist with event logistics, reflection and project implementation. Apply to be a student leader here. Lunch and transportation for off-campus projects will be provided.

First Call: The Julian Chase Prize for Community Impact

Send in your application or nominate someone to apply for the Julian Clement Chase Prize for Community Impact. This award is the leading prize to honor GW students for excellence in community service impact. Applications will highlight the work being done this year! You can nominate yourself or others. The prize provides lasting examples of the impact that students can have when working with members of the community to enhance the quality of life in the DC community.

Events

GW University Writing Conference: Student Panel on Community Engaged Writing

The Honey W. Nashman Center for Civic Engagement and Public Service is hosting this student panel on community engaged writing. This is a great opportunity to understand how students make meaning of their service-learning experiences, thereby adding complexity and quality to their research and writing work.

Event details: Thursday, March 2, 5-6pm,

Ethics, ChatGPT and Political Campaigns

Join the Project on Ethics in Political Communication on Friday, March 10th from 11:00 - 11:45a ET for an online discussion of ChatGPT, ethics and political campaigns. Details are here and you can register here.

Shortly after the event we will post a recording here.

Live Performance: A House is Not a Home

As part of GW's Diversity Summit, the Nashman Center is hosting a performance of "A House is Not a Home."

Through prose, poetry, song, and music, eight writers/performers share insights about being houseless and the true meaning of home. This free performance will be followed by discussion and Q&A with the actors.

Directed by Leslie Jacobson, Professor Emerita of Theatre, Music direction and composition by Roy Barber.

Admission is FREE.
